National Influenza Vaccination Week 2025

National Influenza Vaccination Week (NIVW) is an annual observance to remind everyone 6 months and older that there's still time to get vaccinated against flu from December 6-12th, 2025. Vaccination is particularly important for people who are at higher risk of developing serious flu complications, including pregnant people and young children. Millions of children get sick with flu every year, and thousands will be hospitalized as a result. Pregnant people also are at higher risk of developing serious flu complications.

Since flu viruses are constantly changing and protection from vaccination decreases over time, getting a flu vaccine every year is the best way to reduce your risk from flu. A flu vaccine is the only vaccine that protects against flu and has been shown to reduce the risk of flu illness, hospitalization, and death.

Together, we can use NIVW as a nationwide call to action to encourage everyone 6 months and older to get their annual flu vaccine, especially pregnant people, young children, and others at higher risk. The more people vaccinated against flu, the more people are protected from flu.

Wrapping Up Flu Season 2025

Ventura County Public Health's Immunization Program, in collaboration with Emergency Medical Services, the Medical Reserve Corps, and the Health Education Team, successfully completed this season's three large-scale Flu Point of Distribution (POD) events, along with seven flu clinics for the ARC Foundation and one for the MICOP Annual Health Fair.

Together, these efforts resulted in the administration of 358 flu vaccines to community members across Ventura County.

A heartfelt thank you to everyone who contributed to making this year's flu vaccination events a success!
